DELEGATES PACK BIG COLISEUM FOR SECOND SESSION OF REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

PUT LIMIT IN DEBATE

No Delegate Can Speak More Than Five Minutes On Any Subject—Reports Are Adopted by Acclamation Without Dissenting Vote

Coliseum, Chicago.—Delegates began streaming into the Coliseum for the second session of the republican national convention an hour before Chairman Henry Cabot Lodge gavelled for order.

Before the Coliseum began to fill up, the air became oppressive and it was evident that the day would be hotter than during the opening session.

The official temperature of the Coliseum was 84 degrees and the air was stuffy. Thousands of the fans were waving.

Chauncey M. Depew, veteran of the New York delegation, made his entrance with two girls for whom he found seats on the platform. The police began trying to clear the people out of the aisle at 11 o'clock.

Temporary Chairman Lodge pounded for order at 11:20 a. m. He was warmly greeted by floor and galleries. The cheer leader led three cheers for the chairman.

Opened With Prayer.
Immediately when the greeting to Lodge subsided, the temporary chairman called upon the Rev. Timothy Stone, of Chicago, who pronounced the invocation. The audience stood silently while the minister read his prayer.

Dr. Stone prayed that the republican party might be inspired with God's purposes and that the convention be enabled to choose the man of "Thy choice to control this great nation."

At the conclusion of the prayer, Dr. Stone led the audience in the Lord's Prayer, which the delegates and visitors chanted in a deep base rumble that reverberated through the building.

Before the delegates could again take their seats, the band crashed into the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," the thousands on the floor and in the galleries singing the inspiring words enthusiastically.

Chairman Lodge then called for the report of the committee on credentials. Delegate Duffield, of New Jersey, chairman of the committee, was recognized by the chair.

Duffield came to the platform to present his report.

Duffield presented the report and moved its adoption.

Has Minority Report.

Delegate Church of Tennessee came to the center aisle and said he held in his hand a minority report but that he would not present it, preferring to take his fight back to Memphis, Tenn.

The credentials report was adopted by acclamation.

The next report called for was that of the committee on permanent organization. Governor Morrow, of Kentucky, chairman of that committee, was organized to present it.

Morrow's appearance on the rostrum was greeted with a burst of cheers.

The report of the committee provided that the temporary organization of the convention be made permanent.

Governor Morrow then moved the adoption of the report.

The report was adopted by acclamation.

The chair then called for the report of the rules committee. Representative Howland, Ohio, chairman of the committee, was recognized. He presented the committee report, which the secretary of the committee read. Howland moved the adoption of the report.

Debate Is Limited.

The report of the committee on rules was adopted by acclamation.

A new rule was announced providing that no delegate may talk longer than five minutes or more than once, on any one subject.

One other change was made in the rules. This was to make unfinished business the last order of business so as to clear up any details that may be pending after the nominations. It opens the way for action on the platform after the nomination in case the resolutions committee gets into a protracted deadlock.

Call for Depew

Chairman Lodge then told the convention that he was requested by the committee on resolutions to state that it was not ready to present a full report. The chairman added that this concluded the regular business of the session and asked the pleasure of the convention. There were calls from many parts of the house, "Depew, Depew."

The chair then called upon Depew to ascend from the rostrum and address the convention.

After Depew had finished speaking, delegates called for Uncle Joe Can-

Coliseum, Chicago.—After unanimously adopting the reports of three of its four principal committees, the convention adjourned late yesterday in a burst of wild enthusiasm.

The convention went into session at 11:20 and the delegates and visitors who packed the great Coliseum to the roof, sweltered in a sticky heat for 57 minutes until 12:17 p. m. when adjournment was taken.

Meet at 11 Tomorrow

Tomorrow's session will convene at 11 a. m. at which time the delegates expect to hear the all-important report of the resolutions committee, which is framing the platform. The reports of the committee on permanent organization, credentials and rules went through smoothly and then there was nothing to do but wait for the resolutions committee, which was meeting in the Congress hotel, whipping the platform into shape.

Depew on Platform

When it was realized there was no further business before the convention the great meeting suddenly broke loose and lost the apathy which marked the first session. There was a yell for Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, who started the "revival meeting" with a characteristic speech in which he told humorous stories, denounced and ridiculed the democratic administration and the restraint which has held delegates and spectators in check melted away as he spoke. Depew was the wizard of the occasion. He brought back the old spirit, and when he finished, the delegates were on their feet and the great spell of the Coliseum was echoing with the din of their applause.

Woman Delivers Address

Depew was followed by Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, Kansas, the first woman to speak on a rostrum in a republican national convention.

She appeared, she said, as the representative of twenty million women, nineteen million of whom would vote the republican ticket.

There was no thought of the suffrage party pickets standing solemnly outside when Mrs. McCarter said that and the crowd cheered heartily.

Mrs. McCarter spoke easily and with self-possession. There was no suggestion of stage fright as standing beside Chairman Lodge, she faced the vast audience, in the unnatural glare of yellow lights placed along the side balcony to give illumination for the motion picture cameras.

Called "Uncle Joe"

The throng raised an insistent call for "Uncle Joe" Cannon, who, however, was not present.

After Mrs. McCarter's speech, the enthusiasm increased with the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" with several variations, including an ear-splitting yip at the end of each hallelujah. Then cries for Cannon increased in volume and Lodge's furious gaveling for order nearly splintered the table on which he was hammering. At last he got comparative quiet and recognized Senator Wadsworth, of New York, a member of that delegation, who made a motion to adjourn. There was a lot of confusion, in the midst of which Lodge put the question and in response to a blast of "ayes," declared the session adjourned.

non. Chairman Lodge, however, then announced that Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, of Kansas, authoress, was introduced as the next speaker, the first time a woman has ever spoken from the platform of a republican national convention. She is a member of the republican national convention.

Mrs. McCarter said her appearance on the platform was an honor to all women and that it marked a precedent in republican history.

"I stand here as the representative of twenty million women," she said, "nineteen million of whom are members of the republican party."

Mrs. McCarter said that the women were organized and trained and that they stood loyally by the party of Lincoln, the party that "has never failed in its loyalty to the good old Stars and Stripes."

Robert Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lutz, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Tuesday morning where he was operated on for appendicitis. He is doing nicely.

13 Dead, 27 Injured In Train Wreck

New York Central Express Crashes Into Rear End of Stalled Passenger Train Near Schenectady, N. Y., Early Today

(By United Press Leased Wire)
Schenectady, N. Y.—Thirteen persons were killed and twenty-seven injured early today when a New York Central express train crashed into the rear of a passenger train near here.

The express train was making fifty miles an hour when it struck the passenger train, stalled at the crossing. The two rear sleepers were telescoped.

One one of the dead was identified early today—Martin Doyle, of Albany, an engineer. The other dead included a man, two women, a child and a baby-in-arms. The baby was decapitated.

All aboard the Pullman cars were asleep when the express train came crashing through the Pullman.

The engineer of the express train failed to see the signals set against him, according to belief of railroad officials today.

WOOD'S CAMPAIGN MANAGER STARTS SHARP CAMPAIGN TO NOMINATE THE GENERAL FRIDAY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
Chicago.—"A terrific drive" to make Major General Leonard Wood the presidential nominee of the republican party was launched here today.

The Wood forces started a simultaneous offensive from several angles. Their strategy was engineered by Frank M. Hitchcock.

The sudden collapse of the opposition to Senator James Watson, of Indiana, for the chairmanship of the resolutions committee late yesterday and the almost simultaneous selection of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, temporary chairman of the convention, as the permanent chairman, were among early indications to those initiated in political mysteries that something was going on.

Tracing these results, investigators found indications that Hitchcock had a hand in bringing about a settlement of the two spirited contests.

Reports of a "deal" on both the permanent chairmanship and the resolutions committee were flying today. They were to the effect that Hitchcock had stepped up to take the reins of the "un-bossed" convention and had made the arrangements for putting Lodge and Watson in two of the most important places in the convention.

Another indication of the Wood offensive was renewed pressure on delegates instructed for candidates other than General Wood, to turn to Wood after technically fulfilling their obligations on the first two or three ballots.

Indianapolis.—Atlanta today apparently had captured the 1921 convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

All that remained to clinch the meeting for Atlanta was the action of a general session today ratifying the choice of presidents of the local clubs who awarded the prize to the Atlanta delegation last night.

Milwaukee was second. The vote was for Atlanta, 63; for Milwaukee, 49; for Des Moines 4.

Need Drastic Action To Rouse Half-Conscious Convention

Chicago.—They might do it by bringing Boise Penrose to Chicago on a special train and carrying him into the convention hall on a stretcher; they might do it by escorting William Howard Taft to the platform and asking him to smile; they might by presenting Charles Evans Hughes suddenly to the apathetic delegates; they've got to do it somehow; they've got to inject a salt solution in the veins of this convention, or see its little soul go fluttering into the beyond at an unripe age.

The convention lapsed into a state of coma within an hour after Chairman Hays called it to order yesterday and all the red and green feathers that the Wood adherents wear-had not succeeded in tickling it back to consciousness today.

Once or twice the convention has opened its eyes, but those at the bedside agree that it showed no signs of recognizing anyone.

If not a salt solution, then a medicine dance. Perhaps Hiram Johnson with devastating speech which he is said to be containing only by heroic effort; perhaps Henry J. Allen whose admirers hint he is going to duplicate Bryan's feat of 1896, except that his speech may read:

"You shall not press down upon the brow of capital this crown of thorns," etc.

If Johnson provides this, the medicine dance by his enthusiastic followers is assured.

If Allen does, then it depends on the merits of the incantation.

The delegates miss all the old familiar features.

PORK GRABBERS HOPE JOHNSON WILL WIN

PROSPECTIVE OFFICE HOLDERS BELIEVE JOHNSON HAS BEST CHANCE OF BEING ELECTED

(By United Press Leased Wire)
Chicago.—Hiram Johnson's inner camp is placing much hope of victory on the quiet but powerful activities of many prospective office-holders and politicians among the delegates and folks at home who would be carried to their objectives through the nomination of a winning republican candidate, it was learned today.

The Johnson supporters have pointed out that it is the general opinion among the delegates, that the "alfornian," if nominated, could be elected.

Prospective office-holders, they declare, will take no chance of losing out through naming a candidate who might not have Johnson's opportunity to win.

The Johnson group, it is believed, expect all this will have a compelling effect in bringing about the senator's nomination. The argument is that Johnson would have the best chance of being elected, carrying into power with him hundreds of lesser candidates and opening the way for appointment of thousands of republican postmasters and other officials who now are "on the outside looking in."

HISTORIC SESSION FOR AMERICAN WOMEN

SUFFRAGE LEADER IS PLEASED WITH RECOGNITION EXTENDED AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

(By Mary Garrett Hay)
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—The first session of the republican convention proved a historic day for women.

A precedent in national conventions was set when in line with the progressive attitude taken by the republican party, Mrs. Manley L. Fossennet, of Minneapolis, was delegated to introduce the resolutions on organization of the rules committee.

When Mrs. Fossennet rose in her seat on the convention floor to make her motion, it was the first time a woman had ever taken the convention floor to make a motion.

The convention upset more traditions by naming four women to sit on the rules committee and one on the permanent organization committee.

Then came the biggest step of all. The rules committee decided that the personnel of the executive committee which controls the inside machinery of the party, shall be enlarged to 15 with the understanding that seven women will be appointed to this committee.

In addition the offices of vice-chairman and assistant secretary were created with the understanding that they are to be filled by women.

It seems to me that this not only sets a precedent for the real recognition of women in party councils but will be followed by even greater generosity in the party's fair dealing with women.

APPLETON EAGLES GO TO OSHKOSH TOMORROW

Appleton Eagles who are to participate in the parade in Oshkosh tomorrow will leave for the Sawdust City at 12:25 o'clock tomorrow noon, according to an announcement this afternoon. Appleton men who will go to Oshkosh earlier are expected to be at the Oshkosh depot when the local delegation arrives so that it can fall in line for the parade which is to start shortly after one o'clock.

Moore hall will be headquarters for Appleton men while they are in Oshkosh. It is believed that at least 150 Appleton Eagles will take part in the celebration.

The choir of Trinity English Lutheran church will meet for rehearsal at 7:45 o'clock Thursday evening at the church.

LOWDEN STOCK BOOMS AS BALLOTING NEARS

SUPPORTERS OF ILLINOIS GOVERNOR PREDICT 550 VOTES ON FOURTH OR FIFTH BALLOT

(By Herbert W. Walker)
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Lowden stock was enjoying a decided boom in the convention hotel lobbies as the time for the first balloting of the convention drew nearer.

Claims were being made by Lowden supporters that his candidacy has made big gains in the east during the last 24 hours.

Lowden's friends now say he will have more than 200 votes on the first ballot and that his total will be pushed up to about 550 on the fourth or fifth ballot. The assertions are said to be the result of a careful canvass of the state delegations.

Lowden boomers claimed that 55 of the New York delegates will swing to the Illinois governor whenever it is apparent that Nicholas Murray Butler, favorite son, can not be nominated. Wood, the Lowden men predict, will receive about 25 votes after the break.

In Pennsylvania circles, a report sprang up that Lowden will be strong as soon as Governor Spruill's dark horse chances grow dim.

Another claim is that Michigan delegation will not stand long for Johnson. In Minnesota, however, it is expected that a few Lowden delegates will desert him.

It was found by the committee that by placing seats like those used in Lawrence memorial chapel in the assembly hall, at least 900 pupils could be accommodated. The dimensions of the room are almost identical with those of the chapel, which seats 1,000 people. Writing arms will be placed on each seat and when the study room of any pupil is in use, he could retire to the assembly room for that period. The plan resembles the departmental system of the graded school. There the classes pass to various rooms for recitations and at times the teacher does the same.

Need More Class Rooms.

Only teachers giving special courses, such as commercial, domestic arts, manual training and others, would have permanent locations while the plan was in force. Those teaching academic courses will work in several rooms instead of having a classroom of their own as at present. Several teachers are doing this now.

It appears that the biggest need is for sufficient recitation rooms. The committee found that it could remove two toilets from the main floor to the basement. The lockers could be removed to the halls and two more large class room would thus be provided.

The adjustments, the committee pointed out, would cost considerable money, but the only loss would be the item of labor. The seats will be used in any new structure contemplated and the toilet equipment is already on hand.

Plan Is Not New.

The session room plan is not new. Many high schools use it where there is a large enrollment. It will be a decided change for the teachers, but they are understood to be in hearty sympathy with anything that will relieve the congestion.

Only temporary relief is contemplated under the arrangement suggested. With the enrollment growing every year, not enough recitation rooms will be available to seat all the pupils. The committee therefore plans to continue its study of the best building plan for the city.

The resolution definitely requests the purchase of the required number of opera seats, permission to place the desks in the recitation rooms, transfer of the toilets from the first floor and any other steps necessary to carry out the new arrangement.

HOP TO SEAT 900 PUPILS IN SCHOOL ERECTED FOR 500

"SCHOOL SESSION" PLAN WILL KEEP ALL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS UNDER ONE ROOF.

TEMPORARY ARRANGEMENT

Board of Education Will Continue Its Study of Best Building Plan—More Class Rooms Provided by Changing Locker Arrangement.

What may prove an effective and economical way of temporarily relieving the high school congestion is contained in a resolution adopted by the board of education Monday. The "session room plan" organizations outlined by Lee C. Rasey, new principal of the high school, is recommended for adoption. It will mean the use of the recitation rooms for study and class purposes and the conversion of the auditorium into an assembly room only, with a seating capacity of 900.

Study of the situation was made by the committee on buildings and grounds, consisting of G. H. Packard, A. G. Koch and W. H. Kreiss. They considered the building of additional barracks but decided that the expense would be too great to warrant such a move. A six room building was contemplated, but it was found that it would cost about $9,000 and that there would be practically no salvage. The manual training department submitted the estimate, which showed that the item of labor alone would amount to $4,000.

Study in Recitation Room.

Mr. Rasey suggested the session room plan, which he found had been used in the present building in a limited way. It provides that each pupil shall have his desk in one of the recitation rooms instead of the assembly hall. The pupil would go to the assembly hall each morning for roll call and then return to his desk, except when the room was used for recitation.

It was found by the committee that by placing seats like those used in Lawrence memorial chapel in the assembly hall, at least 900 pupils could be accommodated. The dimensions of the room are almost identical with those of the chapel, which seats 1,000 people. Writing arms will be placed on each seat and when the study room of any pupil is in use, he could retire to the assembly room for that period. RIGHT TO STRIKE UPHELD BY LABOR PLATFORM PLANKS

SAMUEL GOMPERS TELLS G. O. P. RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE WHAT ORGANIZED LABOR WANTS

STRIKES AT PROFITEERS

Steps to Reduce Excessive Living Costs are Demanded—Use of Injunction to Prevent Strikes is Denounced

(By United Press Leased Wire)
Chicago.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today presented to the resolutions committee of the republican national convention demands of organized labor.

Declaring that any curtailment of the right of the workers to organize or strike would be an invasion of fundamental liberty, Gompers urged adoption of the following labor plank:

"We pledge our party to maintain the federal law enacted by congress, securing to the workers the legal right of voluntary association, for mutual protection and welfare, against unwarrantable issuance of writs of injunction, either prohibitory or mandatory, and guaranteeing the right of trial by jury in alleged contempt cases, committed outside the presence of courts.

"Legislation which proposes to make strikes unlawful or to compel the wage earners to submit their grievances or aspirations to courts or to governmental agencies, is an invasion of the rights of the wage earners and when enforced makes for industrial serfdom or slavery."

Held to Fundamental Rights

"We hold that the government should supply information, assistance and counsel, but that it should not attempt by the force of its own power to stifle or to destroy voluntary relations and policies of mutuality between employers and employees."

"The very life and perpetuity of free and democratic institutions are dependent upon freedom of speech, press, public assembly, association and travel. These fundamental rights must be set out with clarity and must be set out with clearness and any manner."

"National preparedness in keeping with the importance and dignity of our nation, requires that we shall have competent and able American seamen. We urge essential to this purpose the vigorous enforcement of the provisions."

Hit at Child Labor

"We hold that public employees should not be denied the right of organization."

"We declare that we must put an end to the employment for profit of children under 16 years of age."

"We demand that effective steps be taken immediately to relieve the people of the burden imposed by the excessive cost of living."

Program for Relief

"As a comprehensive program of such relief and remedy, we set forth these demands:

"Cooperation should be encouraged as an effective means of curbing profiteering. To stimulate rapid development of co-operatives the federal farm loan act should be extended so as to give credit to all properly organized co-operatives just as credit is now given to individual farmers."

We urge that the United States department of labor compile and issue monthly statements of the cost of manufacture of those staple articles which form the basis of calculation in fixing the cost of living."

Wants Investigations

"As a means of aiding anti-profiteering measures, the federal government should promptly investigate profits and prices. All income and other tax returns should be available for inspection."

It is essential that additional legislation regulating immigration should be based upon two propositions, namely that the flow of immigration must not at any time exceed the nation's ability to assimilate our shores, and at no time shall immigration be permitted when there exists an appreciable degree of unemployment."

Federal Compensation Law

"We demand the enforcement of all eight hour laws."

"We favor the enactment of a more comprehensive federal compensation law which will embrace all workers who can not be provided for state compensation laws and we demand that workmen's compensation laws be amended to provide more adequately for those incapacitated by industrial accidents or occupational diseases."

"We demand the enactment of legislation excluding from interstate commerce the product of convict labor."

"We demand the repeal of the la-

CALLS ON WOMEN TO STAVE OFF RACIAL DECAY IN AMERICA

EXALTATION OF PARENTHOOD IS URGED BY SPEAKER BEFORE
MOTHERS' CONGRESS
IN MADISON.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)

Madison, Wis.—A call to the women of America to get behind the big movement for racial improvement, through sex education and the exertion of their moral force to protect the children and young people, was sounded before the National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' association by Dr. Lee A. Stone, of the U. S. public health service. He discussed "Social Hygiene Problems Women Can Control."

"An awakening of the public conscience is necessary," he declared, "if this country is to overcome the effects of venereal disease. Unless something is done and a new civilization with its proper sex education should be the proud boast of parents that they have so thoroughly instructed their children in the vital things of life as to cause them to know that when tempted their chances of falling will be minimized. If daughters who are to be the future mothers of the race could be made to see the reason for their demanding clean bills of health from sweethearts who may propose marriage, again their would be a reduction in the causes for racial decay. Men should feel proud of women who ask for a guarantee of good health from them."

"High-minded citizens and scientists are fighting for better babies. Better babies can be born only through the exalting of motherhood and fatherhood. Only through the enforcement of a single standard of morals, and the development of greater ethical standards for men and women in their sexual relationships, can the future salvation of the race be guaranteed."

Dr. Stone traced the steps which freed the American army of much of the venereal disease that blighted European armies during the war, and enabled the American soldier to turn the tide civilizationward. Under condemnation as contributing to delinquency, crime and anti-social tendencies, he instanced the pool hall, the modern dance, indecent modes of dress, the roadhouse, the "masher," and lack of chaperonage. The automobile also received its share of blame.

Foremost in the agencies for reform through education, Dr. Stone placed the press, with the pulpit and literature as able allies.

The speaker made a strong plea for local support of clinics established by state and city boards of health to aid in the eradication of the social menace.

The fellahs of Egypt, for centuries the most ignorant and improvident of serfs, has ridden into prosperity on the tidal wave of reconstruction, and with him his long-suffering wife. Still, as in the days of Christ, one may see him on his donkey while his wife, with her heavy burden on her head, trudges behind. Yet there is real, if invisible change in their relations.

Through the sudden rise in the price of cotton from $20 to $100 a kantar since the beginning of the war, the housewife has been enabled to make long-neglected purchases and has been enabled to display her native shrewdness in bargaining and financial matters. It is she who markets all the products of the farm.

Guns on Airplanes.

One of the inventions of the great war was the art of shooting a machine gun through the propeller of an airplane without danger of hitting the propeller blades. The French aviator, Roland Garros, was reported to be the first man to employ this device, which was used by hundreds of air fighters throughout the war. Before that time the machine gun was mounted above the aviator so as to fire over the propeller blades. Machine guns may also be mounted in a revolving turret or in the rear of the airplane. The Browning machine gun will fire 20,000 shots at the rate of 600 per minute.

Birkenhead, England. Young Men's Christian association has a tablet commemorating the fact that in that edifice the boy scout movement of the world was publicly inaugurated January 24, 1908. The movement has spread to 27 countries and large and enthusiastic bodies of scouts are to be found all over Europe, Australia, South America and Japan, as well as in the United States. All rendered valuable service during the war.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell was the organizer of the boy scout movement, but prominent men in many nations have since given their aid and influence in spreading it. The duke of Connaught was largely instrumental in enlisting the youngsters of Canada.

The uniform and the globe, eagle and anchor of the United States marine corps is a charm in the streets of Constantinople.

During the time the U. S. S. Galveston has been stationed in Constantinople not a single marine has been attacked in the streets, although they are sometimes ashore late at night.

So far the marines have been uniformly correct in their behavior, and their officers ascribe their immunity from molestation to their reputation as fighters and the "hushiness" of the detachment from the Galveston.

RAINBOW VETERANS OF STATE TO MEET HERE ON JUNE 20

BETWEEN 150 AND 200 FORTY-
SECOND DIVISION MEN WILL BE ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL VETS

The state convention of the Rainbow division veterans is to be held here Sunday, June 20. It will not be as elaborate as at first planned, because only four chapters have been organized in Wisconsin, at Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Oconto. All are so new that an elaborate convention was impossible financially or otherwise and the gathering will therefore take the form of a one-day reunion.

About 150 veterans are expected here. Each chapter is to name 15 delegates who will represent it officially in the business sessions. Men from other than the four cities mentioned will attend because Rainbow men are scattered all over Wisconsin but do not happen to be numerous enough in most cities for a chapter.

Plan Bigger Meeting
The convention will open at one o'clock in the afternoon at the armory. The afternoon will be devoted largely to business matters and formulation of plans for a big convention the year following. The national headquarters at Columbus, O., has definite plans of organization for each state which will be submitted for action. Twenty-six states are represented in the national Rainbow organization, including a total membership of 30,000.

Banquet in Evening
A banquet is to be given in the evening, but the place has not been selected. An attractive program is in process of preparation by Francis Bellew. Dr. James A. Rolfe has charge of the convention arrangements.

The state officers are: President, Fred E. Finn, Fond du Lac; vice-president, Elmer Reider, Appleton; secretary, Martin G. Peters, Appleton; treasurer, John E. Smith, Oshkosh; historian, Earl E. Zoch, Fond du Lac.

OREGON TELEGRAM HELD TO BE WILSON REPLY TO LEADERS

MESSAGE FOLLOWS PARTY RE-QUEST TO PRESIDENT TO DRAFT OWN TREATY
RESERVATIONS

(By H. N. Rickey)

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Washington—To say that the relations between President Wilson and the Democratic leaders in the Senate are strained as the result of the former's refusal to yield an inch in respect to the treaty, is putting it mildly.

When Mr. Wilson sent his now-famous telegram to the Democrats of Oregon, demanding that the party in its national platform stand for the treaty and League of Nations precisely as he brought them back from Europe, he figuratively slapped in the face all of the northern Democratic senators, particularly those on the foreign relations committee.

The Oregon telegram was directly opposed to the recommendation which was made to the president about a week before by the Democratic members of this committee.

Conference Called by Colby
Secretary of State Colby, undoubtedly with the president's approval if not at his suggestion, asked these Democratic senators for a conference to exchange views on the treaty situation. The conference was held May 4. The discussion was very frank. The senators sent to the president through Secretary Colby a definite recommendation as to how it was possible to bring about ratification and save the treaty and the league from becoming campaign issues. They advised and urged that the president send the treaty and league covenant back to the Senate at once with a set of reservations of his own drafting. It was advised that the president in drafting his reservations show a willingness to compromise.

and to meet at least half-way the Senate majority including the 23 Democrats who had voted for the Lodge reservations.

The president, according to the recommendation, was to send to the Senate with the treaty and reservations a message to the following effect:

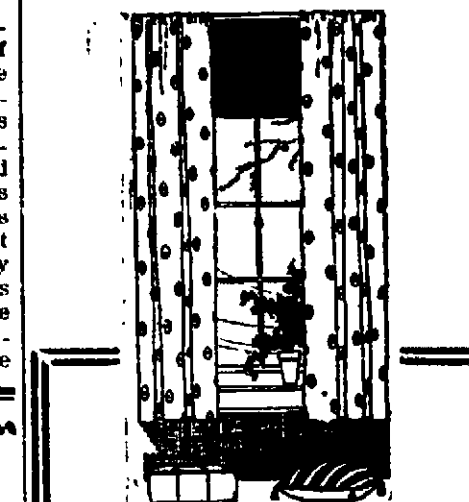

"I am as fully convinced now as when I brought the treaty and league covenant back from Europe that they offer the best opportunity for world peace and the reconstruction of the nations. But I recognize that under the constitution the Senate has co-ordinate powers with the executive in treaty making. The Senate has insisted that there be certain reservations to the treaty and covenant protecting American rights.

"The wording of some of the reservations agreed to by a majority of the Senate nullifies the treaty. The reservations which I promise as substitutes for the Senate reservations fully protect every American interest that can possibly be jeopardized under the treaty and covenant as signed at Versailles. Conditions throughout the world are such that further delay in ratifying the treaty and covenant may have disastrous results. If the Senate will ratify the treaty upon the basis of the reservations which I submit, I will make every effort to have them accepted by the other nations."

It is not conceivable that Secretary Colby failed to carry the message from the Democratic senators to the president; but at this writing, ten days after the message was sent, none of the senators who joined in it has had a word either of approval or disapproval from the White House.

"The president's Oregon telegram followed so closely the conference of May 4, that very senator who took part in it interprets the president's telegram as his answer. And, they not only interpret it as the answer, but also as Mr. Wilson's defiance of the leaders of his own party in the Senate.

The World's Largest Tire Factory Building 30x3, 30x3½ and 31x4-inch Tires

Owners of the smaller cars can enjoy the same high relative value in Goodyear Tires that gives utmost satisfaction to owners of big, costly motor carriages.

They can take advantage of that tremendous amount of equipment, skill and care employed by Goodyear to build tires of extraordinary worth in the 30 x 3-, 30 x 3½-, and 31 x 4-inch sizes.

They can secure these tires without waiting, despite the enormous demand, because, in addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear builds an average of 20,000 a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted to the three sizes mentioned.

If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or any other car using one of these sizes, go to the nearest Goodyear Service Station Dealer for Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

HOSPITAL WANTS TO OPEN STREET FOR NEW ENTRANCE

EXTENSION OF SEYMOUR STREET EAST ALONG HOSPITAL PROPERTY LINE WILL BE REQUESTED

Steps to open Seymour street east of Lake street in order to provide entrance to St. Elizabeth hospital grounds from the south are to be taken in the near future, it was learned yesterday. Petition for authority to open that street and have it paved with concrete at the expense of the abutting property owners will be placed before the common council, it was said.

The new hospital building will face toward the south, making it necessary that a new entrance be provided. Hospital property now extends to the center of the proposed new street which will make it necessary to cut off about 18 feet from that property and an equal amount from the property south.

It is probable that hospital authorities will make an effort to purchase the property to the south before the petition for opening of the street is filed. Several efforts to reach an agreement with the owners have thus far resulted in failure.

It was learned that unless plans are completed within the next two months, no effort will be made to start building this year. It is proposed to give careful consideration to the plans so that no changes will be necessary when actual construction begins.

Architects were here several days ago looking over the grounds and determining location of the new unit. They have returned to St. Louis and are now preparing specifications. It has not been definitely decided how contracts for construction will be awarded. It is planned, however, to buy as much of the material and employ as much labor from Appleton as possible.

MANITOWOC AUTOIST GETS JAIL SENTENCE

Manitowoc.—The first victim in a campaign against reckless driving in this city, Paul Lindenau, was sentenced to three months at hard labor and fined $100 for driving a car while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty. Federal authorities will take up the case, a large quantity of "moonshine" having been found in the car.

FARM HAND RUSH STARTED BY ILLINOIS YOUNG MAN

Publicity in Chicago Newspaper Landed Him Job He Wanted—Now There is Rush of Applicants to Get Back to Farm

(By Edward M. Thierry)
(Special to Post-Crescent)
Chicago—Farmers of Illinois fell all over themselves to hire young Paul Boes.

Boes became the farmers' hero. He was the only man among Chicago's millions who yearned to be a farm hand and who had the pep to get himself enough publicity to land the job he wanted.

He set the fashion. "Back to the farm" became a slogan among city "fellows" tired of playing goat to rent and food profiteers.

One hundred farm jobs were offered the enterprising Boes within 24 hours after he wrote his back-to-the-farm letter to a Chicago newspaper. He picked out one. And immediately there was a rush of applicants—and an avalanche of offers from farmers seeking help.

A week ago D. O. Thompson, secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association, was waiting vainly for answers to his plaintive ads for farm help.

Now two men are kept busy at the association headquarters interviewing applicants who've been converted to the farm idea by Boes' press agency.

Boes, who is only 21, was born on a farm in Denmark and did farm work two summers. He has a French wife and a baby son. His advertised qualifications were that he could milk a cow, drive an auto and a gas engine. Besides he had an ambition to learn the farm game and eventually have a farm of his own.

Now he's working on A. W. Davis' farm at Big Rock, Ill. The Boes family have a cottage of their own and chickens, a cow and a pig.

Inexperienced men can get farm jobs, too, because of the grave shortage. The big cry, though, is for men who can milk cows, handle teams and plow.

CHILD OF 10 WINS MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

Madison.—University brains competed with childhood memory in the music memory contest and demonstrated that one has little advantage over the other and it is merely a question of remembering the names of tunes. Although a number of university students handed in perfect papers, their superior intelligence failed to bring them above little Emma Endres, aged 10, whose paper contained not a single flaw. In view of her youth she was given the grand prize of $10, while no adults were awarded more than $5.

QUONTO INCREASES WAGES OF TEACHERS

Quonto.—At a meeting of the Board of Education a few days ago, a minimum salary of $100 per month for grade teachers of the city was adopted and a bonus of $50 will be paid at the end of the year to all who attend a summer session for a period of six weeks or more.

KIMBERLY BATTLES BRANDT BOYS HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

IMMENSE CROWD IN EXPECTED AT HALL PARK WHEN ANCIEST RIVALS TEST THEIR STRENGTH

Unless Jupiter Pluvius interferes by opening the flood gates, Appleton fans will have a second opportunity to see the Brandt team in action on its home lot next Sunday when it clashes with the Kimberly outfit. Kimberly won the first game between the two teams.

The park has been placed in excellent condition for the combat. The infield has been rolled until it is as hard as pavement and the outfield has been carefully prepared. The park can easily accommodate 2,000 people and leave plenty of room for playing.

Kimberly has been going strong of late and is now in fourth place, a half game behind Appleton. The Brandt team fell a notch last Sunday when they were defeated at Oshkosh. Menasha jumped into second place by virtue of its victory over Kaukauna.

Bruce Noel will be on the mound for the locals and with any kind of support should set the papermill villagers down in one, two, three order. Kimberly has a small army of pitchers and therefore is not fully determined who shall start the game.

Practically the entire population of Little Chute and Kimberly is planning to turn out for the battle. If Appleton fans back their team in the proper manner a record breaking crowd will see the scrap.

Menasha and Oshkosh are scheduled to sail into each other at Oshkosh Sunday while Kaukauna and New London settle their dispute over possession of the cellar championship at Kaukauna.

This is the way the teams stand in the league:

	W	L	Pct.
Oshkosh	5	1	.830
Menasha	4	3	.572
Appleton	3	3	.500
Kimberly	3	4	.439
Kaukauna	2	4	.334
New London	2	4	.334

Believe It or Not.

He was a stranger to the ways of a city and made his way about with difficulty. He entered a large department store and was standing near the elevator when he heard the man directing the running of the elevators say: "Take the elevator to the right. It will take you anywhere."

So the stranger entered the elevator with the assertion: "I wish to go to the terminal station."

"Take the next car," came the quick rejoinder.

Tardy Act of Justice

Marriage between English actresses and men of a high social position began in the eighteenth century. If no earlier, there was Lavinia Fenton, the Polly Peachum of Gay's "Beggar's Opera," who became mistress of Lord North, who married her.

There was Miss Farrow, who married Lord Derby, also Miss Branton became Lady Craven not long before Lord Thurlow married Miss Bolton. Earliest of the lot, though, comes the Earl of Peterborough, who married Anastasia Robinson, the singer, and kept the marriage a secret until a few days before his death in St. James' palace, when he assembled his relatives and friends and publicly acknowledged the woman "to whom he owed the best and happiest hours of his life," a tardy act of justice that caused the lady to swoon away.

Power of Suggestion.

"I thought Crimmon Gulch had given up all its wild ways!" exclaimed the visitor.
"It has," said Cactus Joe.
"Then what is that faro layout doing down the street?"
"You mean in the savings bank?" That was a bright idea of the cashier's to encourage thrift. It makes it seem easier and more natural for the boys to come in and leave their money, though it's kind of hard to convince 'em they can get it back whenever they call for it."

THE CHICAGO PLATFORM

In some respects the platform to be adopted by the Republican national convention is more troublesome to the party leaders than the nomination of a candidate. Any good candidate nominated can be elected, provided only he is not handicapped by a platform which the country may not approve.

The foremost question to be determined is that relating to peace and the league of nations. In our judgment there is only one disposition of this question that it will be genuinely supported by public opinion, and that is to indorse the Versailles treaty as a basis for negotiating peace with Germany and to commit the United States to entrance into the league of nations with reasonable reservations.

Under no circumstances can the party go before the country as an opponent of the league of nations. That course and the nomination of Senator Johnson are a combination of circumstances which might easily bring about the election of a Democratic president. The convention must not forget that it is possible to throw away an election already won, that a step might be taken which would invite a fatal reaction between now and November. The country is in a sensitive state. Greatly as it is disappointed in Democratic administration, it is not surprisingly impressed by the exhibition of Republican efficiency in the present congress.

It therefore becomes the duty as well as the opportunity of the Republican national convention to speak out courageously, definitely and affirmatively on the great questions involved in the conclusion of peace and the consequences of the war. It should do the same touching the leading domestic issues, such as industrial relations, the transportation problem, economic conditions, including the high cost of living, and other factors which enter into sound and orderly reconstruction.

Only by this course will the Republican party commend itself to the confidence and willing support of the country. For once it should dispense with the usual platitudes and confine itself to a clean-cut and straightforward definition of policy. The people demand a concrete program which they may expect to have carried out, and not a meaningless platform which may be given any interpretation the politicians may later see fit to place upon it. For these reasons the resolutions adopted at Chicago will have more than the usual campaign importance.

REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT

According to the supreme court's recent decision, the people of a state with a referendum provision can "recall" state legislation only. They cannot recall their legislature's ratification of a federal constitution amendment, such ratification being only "the expression of the assent of the state to a proposed amendment" by congress. The federal constitution provides that a state's ratification of such an amendment shall be made, not by the people, but by their representatives in the legislature. Therefore the "recall" by the people of Ohio of their legislature's ratification of the prohibition amendment is void and of no effect. The opinion handed down says it "was assumed" that a legislature "would voice the will of the people."

The federal constitution makes no provision for decisions by popular vote. The structure erected by the federal constitution and by the original constitutions of the states was not popular government but representative government. The people's representatives in the legislatures must act for them. Under the original plan the people's only business was to make sure that elected representatives truly represented the majority of their constituents. This was not done in Ohio's case, and in many other instances it has not been, but obviously it is of importance that it should be done.

NEEDLESS GLOOM

In these times men "of light and leading," men holding high and responsible positions ought to speak words of hope and cheer, for humanity craves encouraging words and is the better for a little optimism even when the general outlook is brighter than it appears to be just now. Public men ought to and usually do reveal at least a moderately optimistic attitude. It is rather surprising, therefore, to find Sir Auckland Geddes, in a recent Washington address, indulging a very pessimistic mood. In explanation of the existing unrest and discontent with the present social and economic systems, he said: "A realization of the aimlessness of life lived to labor and to die, having achieved nothing but avoidance of starvation and the birth of children, has seized the minds of millions."

More millions may just now be inclined than in any previous period to think that life offers no more than this—except to the rich—but if so, it is merely because of an increasing tendency to yield to depression of spirits under the present troubled conditions. Doubtless in all walks of life there are men still affected by the wave of lassitude following the strenuous efforts of the great war, men who are weary of seeing things "go wrong" and are profoundly discouraged, but a reaction will come to both the individual and collective man. As for the unrest and discontent of the "toilers" especially, the ultimate results of that in the future, as in the past, are likely to be a bettering of the condition of the discontented. The "realization" Sir Auckland Geddes speaks of is not a recognition of unchanging fact, but a passing affliction of mind.

Nothing ever had less foundation than the frequent assumption that "treadmill" workers are necessarily unhappy and that relatively foot-loose persons of means are serene and content. There is plenty of evidence to the contrary. The supposedly most fortunate have their grievous hours and the most unfortunate have their glad hours. Astute observers are of the opinion that the poor, or at least the poor above the level of really grinding poverty, are happier than the rich. Moreover, youth—which has been aptly termed "a wreath of roses," finds happiness under any conditions whatsoever.

In reality the prospect of advancing the world, that is the world of humanity, was never better nor brighter than today. It is so simply for the reason that representative government is henceforth to be the standard of all nations, and this brings with it automatically increased opportunities, benefits and protection to the people. Much as we may laugh at the statement, wealth in this country is a greater handicap to the young man of today than is respectable poverty. Individual worth was never accorded so high a rating in America, even in Lincoln's time, as it now is. To a greater degree than ever before is each member of this republic the architect of his own fortune and future. That is why our faith in America is boundless and is not clouded in the least by the obsessions which have seized the minds of a few malcontents and agitators.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY—23

My Kats

By the time I had attained the venerable age of twenty months the entrance to my esophagus, vulgarly known as the gullet or food chute, was armed with a fairly useful outfit of masticating apparatus consisting of eight incisors or cutting machines, four canines or teasing machines for tearing apart hunks of meat and the like, and four molars or grinding machines. With those I was able, if necessary, to shift for myself, tho' practically all the work and more or less eminent baby specialists, as my dad found in a cursory examination of their books, advocated considerable coddling and pampering for us older boys. I reckon, from sotto remarks occasionally emitted by dad, that these baby specialists just hate to admit a guy must eat. They prefer to teach that he must be fed. A baby specialist, if he could have his own way about it, would never turn the baby over to the family doctor or the other specialists until he was safely married and settled down. Pediatricists, as they are secretly called in the profession, limit their practice to the care and treatment of infants and their comprehension of infancy is exceedingly broad. By the time the pediatricist is reluctantly constrained to surrender the management of the case, another very liberal and comprehensive specialist, the internist, generally assumes charge for the vital period from, say, age twenty-two to age sixty. After that the lesser specialists are permitted to see the case in consultation.

Father thinks that every young doctor who is too lazy to remain in general practice should be a baby specialist until the babies are pretty well grown up and then sort of metamorphose into an internist to go right on looking after the same babies. That is the best advocate this course for young doctors who do not feel impelled to get rich quick by becoming eye, ear, nose, throat, head, brain, neck, chest and shoulder specialists. The reason why specialists are so numerous in this latter branch of medicine is because the internists have cornered about everything worth mentioning below the diaphragm, save the feet, and the shoe clerks are glad to pose as specialists on the feet.

Here is a sample menu of my diet from the age of eighteen months until I was three years old:

BREAKFAST—Two ounces apple sauce or prune pulp or orange juice. Eight ounces milk. Four ounces oatmeal, farina, rice or hominy, with a little cream or milk and a teaspoonful of brown sugar on. Or in place of the cereal sometimes I called for buttered toast.

10 O'CLOCK—Eight ounces of milk with plain or graham cracker.

1 O'CLOCK DINNER—Potato, preferably baked or mashed. One other vegetable well cooked and strained through a sieve (until I was 2 years old, not strained after that). Some fresh beef, mutton, chicken, with gravy. If no meat, a boiled or poached egg, or some fresh fish, baked. A slice of bread and butter. Some custard, tapioca, or ice cream.

3 O'CLOCK—Eight ounces of milk, with bread and butter and brown sugar on if desired.

SUPPER AT 6:00—Two ounces of cereal gruel, any kind, with milk or cream, and brown sugar if desired. Some stewed fruit pulp without skins or seeds. A sugar cookie, or some toast. A glass of milk.

After supper I generally took a few rolls in the parlor with my father or helped mother dust the whatnot, until I felt sand in my eyes, and then had everybody a fond good night.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nellie the B. C. M.

Seeing your "Beauty Hints" in the paper I am writing to ask what you consider the best powder for a blonde with light blue eyes. (L. A.) Will buttermilk remove wrinkles?

ANSWER—The title you apply to my department is flattering to me and shows that you have unusual discrimination. Health is beauty, and once a young woman learns that the road to beauty is along the ways of health she stands some show of getting there. If I keep on improving in my work no doubt Nellie the Beautiful Cloak Model will write to ask whether they're going to wear creme de voile or fol de rol this season. I can't recommend buttermilk for removing wrinkles, but wrinkles may be prevented by the milk of human kindness.

The Fatality of Anger

A son had a slight difference with his father, a man 70 years of age. The father was greatly upset, and two weeks later had a slight stroke. This was followed three weeks later by a hemorrhage of the brain with fatal outcome. The father was under treatment at the time for Bright's disease and high blood pressure. Could excitement and anger have had anything to do with his death? (S. C.)

ANSWER—Anger or other intense emotion increases the blood pressure and so may have hastened the apoplexy.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 12, 1895

The steamer Crawford passed down the river light.

Miss Josephine Bradford of Wausau was visiting her brother, F. S. Bradford.

Miss Katherine Lummis was engaged to teach Greek and Latin at the La Crosse high school the following year.

Henry Kreiss, clerk of the court, joined the ranks of the local wheelmen.

Charles M. Wirth and L. D. Goldberg of D. Hammel & Co. went to Lexington, Kentucky, for a carload of horses.

The Grand Rapids Pulp and Paper company was planning to build a paper and pulp mill on Hiron power three miles above Grand Rapids. New dams were to be built and the entire cost of the work was estimated at $200,000.

Manufacturers claimed that the price of print paper was stiffening somewhat. Those who had been making it for 2 cents were getting 2.15 for it. It was only in the lower grades of goods that any bettering of prices had been noticed.

Henry Wendelborn's new pharmacy opened its doors to the public.

Prof. Nicholson of Lawrence college was to take a post graduate course in science at Chicago university the following year.

The two machines for the new Wisconsin River Paper and Pulp company were to be 118 and 106 inches wide respectively, each with 26 drivers and 60 foot wheels. They were to be guaranteed to run 400 feet a minute.

The weekly weather report stated that the weather was generally favorable for farming operations, though the nights were too cool for the best development of corn and potatoes.

Two tramps were sent up for thirty days by Justice Rogers and sentenced on three others was suspended by Justice Mung upon their promise to get out of town.

Confessions of a Bride

THE BOOK OF ANN

Jim Leaves on Duty, and Ann Goes Philandering!

If anybody is bored by this life, it's his own fault. Life is as interesting as one makes it, no more and no less. I've seen girls go through tremendous experiences and not know that anything was happening in the world. That was because they had their minds fixed on their own pretty selves. And I've seen them smash up under a scandal just because they were too self-engrossed to consider how outsiders might regard their conduct.

One harmless way I have of keeping alive to the variety of life's entertainment, I read the papers regularly. Just now Mexico leads the page-one news. I haven't any very pleasant memories connected with Mexico, and it doesn't improve my stage of mind to realize that Mexico is going right on interlarding the order of my days. For instance, before the Mexican revolution was fairly under way, Jim, Jr., was instructed to return to the flying field in Texas.

The men of our family had several mysterious conferences before Jim left us. I was quite upset by them because it looked, for a while, as if Bob would have to go across the Rio to guard the interests of the Lorimer mines and oil wells. That's a possibility I can't bear to consider. But it may come true, any day.

Jim's departure was followed by that of Mrs. Best. She went back to work in the movies and we were all very sorry that she insisted upon going. I had an uneasy feeling that she knew she couldn't control her daughter any better than she had been able to control the girl's father, Mrs. Best was not one to shirk a duty, but I suppose she recognized futility from afar.

So Mrs. Best went back to camera land, Chrys went on studying Chinese philosophy, I went to housekeeping and Ann—went philandering.

Just as I suspected, her first conquest was Claude Ives, the designer of artistic interiors, the man who was planning her new home as a background for her beauty.

"Ann is behaving as if she were not married at all," Chrys complained a week after Jim had left us. "Have you noticed, Jane?"

We were sitting on a stone bench near my tall hedge of white lilacs. Those bushes, I am sure, made the prettiest little brooch on the bosom of Mother Earth that fair morning. I was impatient when Chrys spoiled my joy by introducing Ann's conduct into our conversation.

"Ann thinks because we're such simple natured people, not given to family quarrels that we'll stand for anything," Chrys continued.

"I've noticed too. She's been flirting with Claude Ives."

"You've got to stop her, Jane!"

"Stop her!" I exclaimed. "Just remember how her mother described her father. It's heredity with her. Stop Niagara—as easily!"

"Consider this, my dear. Ann is going to take that insufferable Ives to the milliner's with her this noon. He's going to help her select some hats!"

"Horrible!" I exclaimed. "Unthinkable! There's always a crowd of women waiting in Hortense's parlors. They know Ives. They'll say he is up to his old tricks—and that Ann Lorimer is the fool, this time!"

"Better stop her then," was the response.

"How?"

"Go with her!"

"What—uninvited?"

"Invite yourself. 'Butt in,' as Jim would say, and keep poor Jim's name out of the business—if you love him!"

"Chrys, you've spoiled my morning—and my white lilacs—and everything!" I wailed.

"Blame Ann," said Chrys bluntly.

Democratic Convention Snap-Shots

The Story of 16 Nominations

By A. H. VANDENBERG

The Convention of 1860

When the Democratic National Convention assembled on April 23, 1860, in Charleston, South Carolina (meeting the first time in the South) the Party had already fallen prey to that "irre-sistible conflict" that was leading the country into civil war. It was irreconcilably divided on the question of slavery and the territories. Meanwhile, Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, whose memorable debates with Lincoln had given him a fame commensurate with that of Lincoln, reached the climax of his political career at the moment when his Party had entered upon the throes of temporary dissolution.

The Charleston Convention was in session 10 days, with Francis B. Flournoy, Arkansas, as temporary chairman and Caleb Cushman, Massachusetts, permanent chairman. From first to last it was involved in a bitter wrangle. Threats of bolting began to appear on the third day and after a long fight over resolutions was ended by a close vote, and before the balloting for nominees began, a large portion of the Southern delegates had withdrawn. The delegates who remained, adopted the traditional two-thirds rule by a vote of 141 to 112. As a consequence, Douglas—leading all the way—could not be nominated. After 57 futile ballots, the Convention adjourned to meet at Baltimore on June 18.

At Baltimore, when it became apparent that Douglas would be nominated, the few remaining Southern delegates organized a second bolters convention and nominated John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky for President and Joseph Lane of Oregon, for Vice-President. The original bolters from the Charleston Convention, meeting at Richmond, Virginia, made these same nominations.

Meanwhile, Baltimore Convention proceeded to finish its dubious toil. Douglas was nominated for president on two ballots—making 59 in all. Benjamin Fitzpatrick of Alabama was nominated for Vice-President on a single ballot. He declined the nomination two days later, and the National Committee filled the vacancy by naming Herschel V. Johnson of Georgia.

During the Baltimore gathering, it is an interesting side-light—perhaps prophetic—that the temporary flooring above the parquet of the theatre gave way in the center and the delegates found themselves precipitated into a human maelstrom.

In the subsequent campaign, Lincoln was elected. Douglas, with 1,375,157 popular votes, secured all but 12 electoral votes; while Breckenridge, with but 845,763 popular votes, received 72 electoral votes. To be continued tomorrow with the story of the Convention of 1864.

CHOOSE YOUR EXECUTOR NOW!

Why leave to the discretion of a stranger a matter so vitally important to your family as the administration of your will?

That will happen unless you name an executor. It may happen if you name an individual. He may not survive.

In naming this company you guard against uncertainty; and put your estate into hands which will protect both principal and income when you are no longer here to do so yourself.

GRAFTER FAILS TO MAKE CATCH HERE

A BOGUS PHONOGRAPH AGENT TRIES TO PUT "NEW MACHINE" ON MARKET—OTHER SCHEMES TRIED

A stranger who said his name was Noble endeavored to catch local jewelers in a new game last week but so far as is known none of them were victimized. He represented himself as the agent of a phonograph, the name of which was new to them, and his object in visiting Appleton was to place it on the market. He was particularly anxious to place the agencies with jewelers whom he claimed could make enormous profits.

The first phonograph would cost the jeweler $235, but the wholesale price on others was to be $90. The difference in price, he said, was due to advertising matter that accompanied the first machine. The phonographs were to retail at $250. The jeweler was to give notes for the first machine due at different dates during the year. This was what made them suspicious.

The stranger also claimed that he was connected with the Noble Jewelry company of Chicago, but investigation revealed that such was not the case. The company has sent out notice to the effect that the stranger is in no way connected with it.

Another stranger was in Appleton yesterday endeavoring to secure orders for a $60 suit of clothes or for a $60 overcoat. The purchaser was to pay two dollars a week for thirty weeks or until his number was drawn. In this way he took a chance of getting his suit at considerably less than $60 in the event that he held a lucky number. The plan was first tried out years ago with watches.

SEWER DIGGER FINDS LOG BURIED IN GROUND

The contractor engaged in digging a sewer on Outagamie street came upon a log yesterday fourteen feet below the surface of the ground. It was in a fairly good state of preservation.

Carver street, from Pine street to the city limits, will be closed for the next week or ten days on account of digging sewers.

The second carload of oil of the eight ordered by the street department arrived Monday and will be put on streets at once.

MAY PLACE NEW TRAIN ON HILBERT BRANCH

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company is planning to run heavier engines and heavier trains over its Hilbert branch into Appleton. In order to do this heavier rails had to be laid. The work was completed to within a short distance of Appleton last year and now a crew is engaged in replacing the old rails between the draw bridge and the depot. In order to take care of the constantly increasing business there is a possibility of another train being added.

NEW BANK AND 15 NEW HOMES IN KIMBERLY

Work on the new bank building at Kimberly has been started by the Fraser Lumber and Manufacturing company of Appleton, to whom the contract was recently awarded. Excavation has been completed, the foundation walls are in and work on the superstructure is now under way. The building is being erected on the corner near W. H. Fleweger's store and will be constructed of brick. Construction of fifteen new houses at Kimberly, the contract for which was also awarded to the same company, will be started this month. It is the intention of the company to have them completed before cold weather.

COUNTY FARMERS ARE IMPROVING PROPERTY

Several Outagamie county farmers are improving their property this summer. Charles Krueger, town of Center, held a building bee yesterday. About a dozen neighbors helped him frame up a new machine shed about 24 by 50 feet in size.

John Kurul, Grand Chute, is to erect a substantial addition to his barn. He expects to have a barn raising bee in a few days.

Otto Mossholder, Grand Chute, is also enlarging his barn. The frame work is completed and the building will be enclosed this week.

Emil Gentz, Center, has completed a concrete foundation for a machine shed 30 by 50 feet. The building is expected to be ready for use within a week or two.

RAISE MORE BEETS BUT FEWER SPUDS THIS YEAR

The acreage of potatoes in Outagamie county this year is less than other years, but the acreage of sugar beets is greater. While potatoes were very profitable last year comparatively few were planted this spring on account of the high price of seed. The high price of sugar this spring and the possibility of getting a liberal supply for their own use besides causing a good price for raising beets, caused many farmers to try raising beets this year for the first time.

U. S. OFFERS BONUS FOR 3 YEAR ENLISTMENTS

Announcement was made by First Sergeant Willard H. Beltz, attached to the U. S. A. recruiting headquarters at Green Bay, that a bonus of $90 will be paid recruits enlisting for three years. Sergeant Beltz arrived in Appleton this morning on a recruiting mission. He will be stationed at the postoffice until June 14. He will accept enlistments in all branches of the service.

Dr. Pullen was commissioned in the medical corps of the army, serving during the entire war.

SECOND INTERLAKE TEAM WHIPS HILBERT

Interlake baseball team No. 2 showed its strength Sunday afternoon when it defeated the Hilbert team on Interlake grounds, 8 to 3. The game was hotly contested nearly all the way. Next Sunday the team will tackle Darboy.

LAWRENCE CO-EDS TO PLAY RIPON AGAIN

The girls' tennis team of Ripon college will play a return game here Saturday morning with the Lawrence co-eds. The Lawrence girls lost out rather badly in the meet at Ripon last Saturday, but are looking for better fortune at the meet on their own campus.

The Whiff of Violets.

"My! what a flowery whiff! That handkerchief must have been literally steeped in violets," exclaimed one girl to another who had just shaken out from its folds a fragrant square of linen. "Not steeped in violets, my dear," was the answer, "but boiled in orris water. The effect is the same. On washing days I supply the washerwoman with a good-sized piece of orris root, and she throws it into the water where my handkerchiefs are boiling. When they come up from ironing they are as redolent of orris as can be. Then I slip them between the folds of a sachet filled with violet powder, and they never lose their fragrance. Violet and orris together make a real violet odor."

That's More Than Some Do.

"Whoever told you you could play golf?" sneered the expert. "Who? Me?" asked the novice. "I'm playing just as well as any of the others, am I not?" "Why, man alive, you took 14 strokes to make the first hole! Is that what you call good playing?" "Well, I hit the ball every time, didn't I?"—Stray Stories.

"How do you like your new neighbors?"

"All right. The first thing they did was to borrow our lawn-mower." "Have they returned it?" "Not yet, and I hope they keep it. Then they'll be careful not to use it early in the morning or at any hour when it would attract my attention unduly."—Boston Transcript.

SUGAR COSTS $19.20 A POUND IN POLAND

MAN MUST OWN A MINT IF HE WANTS TO BUY A SUIT OF CLOTHES; LETTER FROM POLAND INDICATES

It is almost impossible to obtain food and clothing in Poland. Prices are so prohibitive that people go half clothed and many literally starve. This information was contained in a letter received by A. L. Kiss from a sister who resides in Lodz, Poland. Lodz is in what is known as Russian Poland.

The letter states that there is no work to earn money for necessities. Even if money were obtained, the prices are out of all reach. Four pounds of bread cost 10 marks. Figuring a mark at about 21 cents in American money would make the price $9.60, or $2.40 a pound. Meat costs 35 marks a pound, or $8.40. One pound of sugar may be bought for 80 marks, about $19.20.

A fancy price of $200 must be paid for men's suits, which she says are priced at 5,000 marks. Shoes are equally exorbitant, costing 2,000 marks or $480. Shirts cost 300 marks, or $72.

The letter states that shipments of food and old clothing are received constantly from friends in America. Every article is more welcome than the people here can appreciate and is about the only thing that keeps the people from dying of starvation or going naked.

RURAL SCHOOL PROGRAM AT WAVERLY TOMORROW

Annual commencement of Outagamie county schools will be held at Waverly tomorrow, at which time 232 pupils who have just completed the eighth grade, will receive their diplomas. At 10:30 o'clock in the morning an athletic program, which will include a 100 yard dash, potato race, standing broad jump, running broad jump, games, etc., will be carried out. A picnic dinner will be served at noon and will be followed by a short program at 1:30 o'clock, which will be concluded with the presentation of diplomas. Members of the class who are unable to attend will receive their diplomas by mail.

LOOK FOR BIG CROP OF BERRIES IN COUNTY

Just at present conditions are favorable for a big crop of strawberries, cherries, raspberries, plums and apples in Outagamie county, according to those who have been making close observations. Strawberry vines are well loaded with green berries, which it is expected, will be on the market by the end of the month. Fruit trees and berry bushes also give indications of an abundant yield.

Erna Boyer and Mrs. Charles Heinz are spending a week in Milwaukee.

WITHDRAW REMONSTRANCE AGAINST ENLARGING TOWN

The remonstrance against including certain lands in the incorporation of Combined Locks was withdrawn at the hearing before Judge E. V. Werner in circuit court Tuesday afternoon after a portion of the testimony had been taken. The number of acres to be incorporated in the village is close to 900, a portion of which extends into the river. This is a larger tract than some of the residents deemed necessary.

Ford Deliveries

A False Report has been Spread to the Effect that Ford Cars are not to be had for Early Delivery

This report is evidently based on delivery conditions in the west and southwest, far distant from manufacturing and distributing centers.

The freight congestion at DETROIT is beyond a doubt demoralizing regular shipments of automobiles, but LIVE WISCONSIN FORD DEALERS have taken advantage of the situation by organizing "DRIVE-OUTS" from the Detroit plant, regardless of the expense, thereby enabling them to supply their customers and territories with a good share of the present production.

How long this state of affairs will last is not known, but until conditions do change, we are ready to make almost "Immediate Delivery."

To take advantage of the long summer driving season therefore, we suggest that you register your order immediately, as the opening of the freight tie-up will mean that distant points will receive their allotment of cars to fill the thousands of orders on file, and nearby points like those in Wisconsin may be temporarily embarrassed.

Miss Oesterreich Weds.

Miss Elsa Oesterreich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Oesterreich, 720 Brewster street, and Karl Bauerfeind, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bauerfeind, Royalton, were married at high noon today. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. J. Drogkamp at the parsonage of the church. Miss Louise Schultz and Clarence Bauerfeind, brother of the groom, attended the couple. The bride wore a blue georgette dress and hat, with a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Miss Schultz wore a blue georgette dress and hat and had a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. Only a few friends and the members of the two families were present. The young people left at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon for Milwaukee and Chicago. They will also spend a few days at Royalton at the home of Mr. Bauerfeind's parents, after which they will return to make their home in this city, on Summer street.

Farewell Party.

The Dramatic class of the Recreation department of the Appleton Woman's club will have a farewell party Monday night in the high school gymnasium. Festivities will begin at 8 o'clock, following the regular meeting of the gymnasium class.

The affair will be the last meeting of the dramatic class until September, when the work of the class will begin in earnest. Mrs. George N. Pratt, who is in charge of the class, is working out plans for next year. The program will include the reading of plays and one of the big events of the new club year will be the presentation of a program before the public by the dramatic class.

Monday evening will be spent informally. Following a program of readings and music, there will be dancing and games.

Picnic Well Attended

The picnic of the Woodlawn school, Grand Chute, yesterday was well attended. Pupils and parents enjoyed an afternoon's frolic on the school grounds and were treated to eight gallons of ice cream. Francis O'Hanlon, teacher of the school, has accepted a position at Dale for next season.

Surprise Shower

Miss Anna Giesbers entertained at a surprise shower last night for Miss Violet DeGuire, Fremont street, at the DeGuire home. Miss DeGuire's marriage to Emil Frisch of Antigo is to take place this month. The evening was spent in playing dice. First prize was won by Miss Myrtle Farrell; consolation by Miss Margaret Poetzl.

Application for marriage licenses were made this morning to Herman J. Kamps, county clerk, by George Jansen of Little Chute and Anna Vanden Wyngaard of Kimberly; Edward J. Fahrback of Menasha and Verena Hoffman of Appleton; George H. Knuth and Mae Wiczand of Appleton.

"Y" TENNIS PLAYERS ARRANGE SCHEDULES

Tennis players of the Y. M. C. A. held a mass meeting Wednesday noon and named a committee to take charge of the season's activities. The members are A. D. Weller, chairman, C. E. Foreman, R. F. Zartner, H. B. Frame, Edward Ornstein and R. H. Starkey.

A schedule was arranged giving the men the use of the courts Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4:30 to nine o'clock; Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30 to nine o'clock; and Saturdays from 12 to nine o'clock. Ladies will be allowed to play on the courts with senior members in mixed doubles Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30 to nine o'clock.

Boys will use the courts Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9:30 o'clock in the morning to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 2:30 o'clock; Saturdays from 9:30 to 12 o'clock.

MENNONITES QUIT WESTERN CANADA

8,000 SELL HOMES AND MOVE TO MISSISSIPPI TO GAIN FREEDOM OF WORSHIP AND EDUCATION.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)

Winnipeg, Canada. — Eight thousand Mennonites are to leave Western Canada this year and move to Mississippi, taking with them all their worldly possessions, estimated to be worth more than $10,000,000.

They are going because the Manitoba and Saskatchewan governments are compelling them to conform to the education standards of the two provinces, by teaching their children in English instead of in German, and because they feel that if Canada ever is embroiled in another war they will be forced into military service.

U. S. Promises Exemption, Leaders Say.

Assurance that they will be exempted from military service and left free to worship and to educate their children as they please, has been obtained from federal authorities at Washington and from state officials of Mississippi, according to Mennonite leaders who are arranging for the migration.

Fourteen Canadian prairie towns and villages will be practically depopulated, temporarily at least, and highly improved land holdings, valued at more than 10,000,000, will be sold by the emigrants for what they will bring.

Some of the Mennonites, those living in the towns, are preparing now to depart, but the majority, who are farmers, will wait until after this fall's harvest.

More to Come Next Spring.

Later on, probably next spring, thousands more are expected to leave, to establish colonies in Alabama.

The Mennonites' dissatisfaction with Canada dates from 1915, when the Manitoba authorities began to enforce a new set of school laws, requiring that English must be taught for a specified period every day in every school in the province. The Mennonites resisted.

Within the last two years the officers have pushed enforcement of these laws and have arrested many Mennonite leaders.

The Mennonites fought the case to the Canadian Supreme court and lost. During the war, the Mennonites were criticized because of their refusal to serve, even in the non-combatant branches of the army.

Later in the war, when the nation was hard-pressed to find recruits, soldiers who had returned disabled, mobbed Mennonites in several communities.

Reviving Heraldry

In the use of devices and weapons that linked the great war with the wars of preceding centuries, the adoption of a kind of heraldry by the airmen revived also the individuality of medieval shields and banners. Sometimes this heraldry turned out to be a mistaken symbolism, as in the case of the German aviator who emblazoned his fighting plane with a Bavarian lion in pursuit of a French cock. The emblems varied according to taste: an Indian shooting an arrow, the flying stork, the Indian head with which Luther decorated his machine; the winged serpent, an ancient token of wisdom and speed; a dove, and a comet. In an older time such insignia would, no doubt, have become hereditary. In the twentieth century they served simply to express the brave gaiety and humor of youth.

Artificially Fled

The long line of limousines whirling down the avenue to modistes and afternoon teas stopped short as a tall policeman signaled for a right of way. Under his eye a stalwart lad in khaki escorted his little gray-haired mother, timorously glancing from side to side, to safety and the other side of the street. In the foremost car sat a beautiful woman in the sunny thirties, finished like the car in which she sat in every detail. The last touch that marked the lady of elegant leisure was the perky little Pekinese she held tucked away under her arm. And then she who watched saw the monadine, her eyes on the boy, wipe her eyes with a half apologetic brush of her handkerchief, dropping her toy as real feeling wiped out artificially. — New York Sun.

Some More to Worry About

Smith: Did you ever stop to think that this national prohibition will be an awful blow to Uncle Sam's ship-building program?

Smith: Howzat?

Smith: Can you imagine the sweet young daughter of the secretary of the interior christening a new ship with a bottle of Bevo? — Indianapolis Star.

Why Frost Injures Food

An egg expands when it is frozen and breaks its shell. Apples can resist so much that a full barrel will shrink until the top layer is a foot below the chime. When the frost is drawn out the apples resume their normal size and fill the barrel again. Certain varieties are not appreciably injured by being frozen if the frost is drawn out gradually. Apples will carry safely in a refrigerating car while the mercury is registering fully 20 degrees below zero. Potatoes, being so largely composed of water, are easily frozen. Once touched by frost they are ruined.

Life's Little Problems

"George, dear!" began the worried woman.

"Yes, watish?" granted George, without looking up from his newspaper.

"Would you mind helping me with a little bit of arithmetic?" she pleaded.

"Not at all."

"Well, if we pay the new cook the wages she wants will we have enough money left to buy anything for her to cook?" — London Answers.

Sad Prospect

"Do the doctors give your friend any hope for their rich uncle?"

"Not a particle. They say he may live for years."

THE ACME OF COMFORT OXFORDS MEAN A VACATION SEASON FOR YOUR FEET

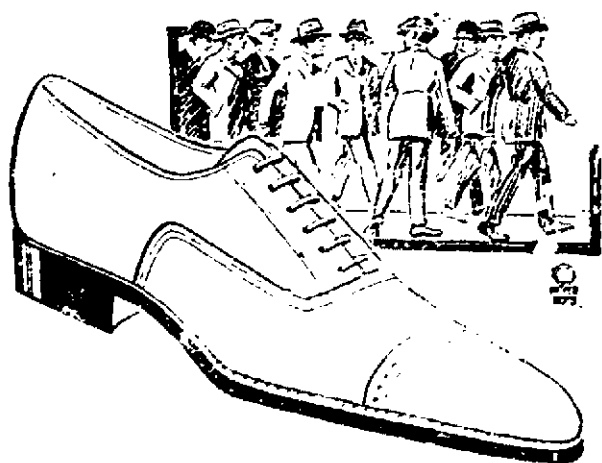

THE person who sticks to cold weather shoes in the Summer should have his head examined by an alienist. He might as well wear a fur cap and ear muffs. Oxfords, canvas footwear and other low shoes are the choice of those who use their heads for something more than a handy place to put their hat.

It's bad taste to brag about one's self, but every time our buyer looks over our summer footwear his chest sticks out another inch and you won't blame him when you come in to look over the assortment. Every good style, material and line of beauty is in them. Comfort sticks out everywhere. Look in our window this week and if your feet don't beg you to come inside we'll be surprised.

There are different prices for every style, kind and grade. Some as low as $2.95. From there they rise by easy steps up to the aristocrats at $12.00 and $14.00. But whatever the price there isn't a poor one among them.

Everything in Foot Comfort for the Whole Family, from the little tinker of a few weeks to grandpa and grandma. Of course we sell Hosiery lots of it!

GLOBE Gas-Kol Combination Range

Here's why anyone can prepare delicious, appetizing meals on this range: The same oven is used for either coal or gas—with perfect results. Oven is square and has no obstructions. The bottom is a solid cast plate, insuring an even, perfect baking surface. No dampers, no draft slides, no complicated parts to get out of order. An automatic ventilating system promotes perfect combustion. And the oven thermometer takes the guesswork out of cooking.

Let us show you this range and explain every detail. Come in this week.

bor provisions of the Commons Esch law.

"We declare that the congress of the United States should take action to prevent the federal courts from continuing the usurpation of authority of local courts."

"We further urge that justices of all federal courts shall be elected by the people for terms not exceeding six years."

"We declare our unalterable opposition to any exercise of force by us in compelling the Mexican people to meet unwarranted and unjust demands of the Americans whose sole interest is the exploitation of the people and the natural resources of the Mexican nation."

Urge Beer Plank
A beer and light wine plank was advocated by Joseph Oberfell representing the American Federation of Labor, who said the workers generally demand freedom of use of such beverages.

Jane Addams, representing the "Women's International League for Permanent Peace, presented four planks.

1—Restoration of constitutional guarantees of free speech, free press and free assemblage.
2—Universal physical training of boys and girls in the public schools.
3—That the United States take the lead in bringing about world disarmament.
4—Greater efforts to bring about friendly relations with Mexico.

The Airplane Runabout

At last there is being produced in England a small airplane, with wings extending only 15 feet, or actually less than the wing extension of a real bird, the albatross. This, it is sure, would be a large albatross, but cases have been known of these birds measuring 17 and 18 feet from tip to tip. There is evident advance toward the day when anybody who can afford the price will be able to own an airplane, without the need of a special landing place for it. The one referred to can, it is claimed, come down in the street without blocking traffic any more than would a hay wagon on its way to market.

INVEST VACATION MONEY IN STAMPS, U. S. URGES

Vacation thrift is urged in new bulletins from the treasury department to the local postoffice. School children were urged all through the year to invest in thrift stamps and now that vacation is here, continuance of the saving habit is urged. Every boy and girl is urged to get a job for the vacation period and to invest at least ten per cent of the earnings in thrift stamps. It is said that if every child of school age in the seventh federal reserve district would save one $5 stamp a month, it would amount to $12,000,000 in a year. The stamps sell at $4.17 this month and may be redeemed in 1925 for their full value. They may be purchased at the postoffice.

$300,000 NOT ENOUGH FOR CARD'S STAR HITTER

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
St. Louis Post-Dispatch
New York—Trading and dealing in Hornsby stock is the latest activity in the National League market. The Cardinal star is being bought and sold daily but he's still the prize corner in the firm of Riskey and Company.

Everybody is selling Riskey's goods but Riskey himself.

The prices being offered for the league's leading hitter make him the fastest piece of bric a brac in the major leagues.

Babe Ruth's price tag looks an ingersol pawn ticket up against some of the rumored bids for the St. Louis star.

Across the river in Brooklyn with his flock, Riskey denied today that any of his stock was on the market.

"If it will not queer the game of some of the curb brokers, just let it be known that $300,000 won't get Hornsby away from the Cards," he said.

"The St. Louis club is out to buy, not sell."

APPLETON MAN RETURNS FROM RISK MEN'S MEET

Louis H. Keller, district manager for the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, has returned from Salt Lake City, Utah, where he attended the annual convention of the "125,000 Club" of that company.

Agents whose annual business is in excess of $125,000 are eligible to attend this meeting.

While in Salt Lake City Mr. Keller met a former Appleton man, George Babcock, now an agent of the same company in Denver, Col. While in Denver Mr. Keller saw a reference to Appleton in a motion picture program.

The great sanitarium conducted by the Modern Woodmen of America at Salt Lake City was visited by Mr. Keller, who said it is one of the finest institutions of its kind in the world. Mr. Keller was gone about two weeks.

DRUNK WHILE DRIVING CAR; PAYS $25 FINE

Hugh Fraser, arrested late Tuesday afternoon by Officer Ratzman on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was fined $25 and costs when arraigned in municipal court this morning. Fraser entered a plea of guilty. Fraser's arrest, which was made on Appleton street, near College avenue, attracted considerable attention. He refused to get out of his car when ordered to do so by a policeman and threatened to start a fight. He was finally convinced that discretion is the better part of valor and went to the station with the officers.

COMPLETE COUNTY SURVEY THIS WEEK

INFORMATION GATHERED IN COMMUNITY SURVEY TO BE REVIEWED BY CHICAGO EXPERTS

All indications point to the completion of the community survey of Outagamie county this week. Reports are still due from only three townships and a small amount of information is needed in connection with the Appleton studies. The Home Service office of the Red Cross plans to send the completed reports to Chicago Friday. A collection of photographs is also being taken this week to supplement some of the information contained in the records.

The survey material is to be reviewed by experts of the Central Division of the American Red Cross, Chicago, and by members of the Wisconsin University Extension Division. It will be classified and recommendations prepared as to the best way to meet the social conditions which are shown to be existent. The reports will then be returned to the committees, perhaps about July 1.

A false alarm called the fire department to the corner of Packard and Richmond streets about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. The person who sent in the alarm is not known.

EAGLES, ATTENTION!

All Eagles going to convention at Oshkosh assemble at Eagles' Hall at noon Thursday, march with Band to the 12:25 N. W. train. Those going earlier should meet this train at Oshkosh as we go immediately into the parade.

Moose Hall at Oshkosh is our headquarters. We enter parade corner of Main and North Park at 1:30. Special feature requires attendance of all who can go. Don't disappoint us. Meeting tonight as usual.

Worthy President.

MAY SUSPEND ALL ROAD WORK IN THE COUNTY

Not a bucketful of cement has been poured on Outagamie county highways to be improved this summer and A. C. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, stated this morning that it was impossible to tell whether or not any would be poured during the remainder of the summer. What little work has been done by contractors this season has been confined to hauling several carloads of material that arrived some time ago. No cement was delivered, however. Mr. Brusewitz took up the matter of having cement shipped by boat by way of Green Bay, but is still waiting for a reply. There is very little possibility of any kind of road material being shipped under present freight conditions. Indications are that road work in Outagamie county will be entirely suspended within the next two weeks for an indefinite period.

APPLETON HOLSTEIN IS BEST IN AMERICA

Sadie Gerben Hengerveld DeKol, famous Holstein cow owned by the Wisconsin Livestock Association of Appleton, has won more honors. Mrs. Sadie was awarded first prize at the annual meeting of the Holstein-Friesian association of America in St. Paul June 2, competing with 4, 125 cows from 15 states and the Dominion of Canada for the coveted honor. Sadie outdistanced the whole field and proudly chewed her cud as the judges, with greatest respect, placed the blue ribbon on her august person.

Sadie recently established a new world's record in a seven day test.

SHORT NOTES

A regular meeting of the Trades and Labor Council will be held at eight o'clock this evening.

A Shetland colt less than a week old, the property of R. F. Shepherd, who resides on Pacific street, is attracting a great deal of attention among First ward children. Mr. Shepherd purchased the mother from a breeder at Watertown, Wis., six months ago.

Wilbur Willy of California is visiting relatives and friends here after an absence of sixteen years.

F. C. Hartung has returned from a week's visit with relatives and friends at Two Rivers, Milwaukee and Racine.

Miss Alma Krueger is visiting friends at Oshkosh.

A meeting of the Inter-factory baseball league is to be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Y. M. C. A. All factories are expected to have representatives present. The most important matter to come is to adopt a schedule of games.

Yank Forces Made Candy

Ten candy factories were transferred by the Y. M. C. A. to the United States expeditionary forces recently. Thirty others have been taken over by the quartermaster's corps recently. The army will continue to manufacture ice cream and candies at the 10 factories.

SEVERAL LOWDEN MEN ARE UNSEATED

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN COMMITTEES DECISION OVERTURNED BY ORDENTIALS COMMITTEE

(By Harold D. Jacobs.)
By United Press—Special Wire
Chicago.—The credentials committee of the republican national committee completed its work of making up the permanent roll of that body at five a. m. today after being in session thirteen hours.

Fight for Chairmanship.

The meeting opened with an unexpected fight over the chairmanship. Charles H. Innes, Massachusetts, was opposed by Edward P. Duffield, state chairman of the Wood organization in New Jersey. Duffield was elected, 23 to 16. The result occasioned some muttering by the defeated faction, who made much of the fact that Frank M. Hitchcock, Wood's campaign manager, had been "visiting" with the committee members for an hour before they got down to business.

W. T. Laube, Washington, was elected secretary by acclamation. Charles B. Carter, Maine, appeared in the role of informal attorney for the committee. He is a Wood man.

Seat Lowden Men.

In the debate that ensued in the Georgia case, Gregory Page, New Mexico, tore into Henry Lincoln Johnson, negro national committeeman-elect from Georgia, who conducted the case for himself and associated delegates.

A roll call was taken and Johnson's four Lowden delegates were retained on the convention personnel, 27 to 23. The next division came in the fourth congressional district. This time the Wood faction caught the Lowdenites napping and seated C. D. Williams in place of R. B. Butts.

John W. Smith, Michigan, wearied of the partisan lines along which the session was developing, declared: "I'm not here representing either Wood or Lowden. Don't let us fool ourselves; we're not deciding these cases according to the evidence."

This started a sort of testimonial meeting, in which several members openly declared their preference regarding candidates.

The fifth Missouri, in which the national committee threw out both sets of delegates because of an alleged fraudulent primary, gave Page an opportunity to make charges that the Lowden delegation—Robert J. Flick, Kansas City, and Jesse L. Martin, Independence, had "used gunmen and mustard gas" to break up the opposition's conventions. The committee first voted down a motion to uphold the action of the national committee, 36 to 11, then seated Flick and Martin, 27 to 20.

The last fireworks before the committee lapsed into desuetude came in the tenth Tennessee case. The national committee seated Robert R. Church, Memphis negro, and Harvard graduate, supposed to be for Lowden, opposed by Charles B. Quinn, Memphis, committed to Wood.

Mrs. Marshall Priest, delegate-at-large, objected to Church. He was ousted by an oral vote.

START PROGRAM WHEN NEW DIRECTOR ARRIVES

Activities of the Recreational department of the Appleton Woman's club will start immediately upon the arrival of Miss Constance Johnson, who is expected here June 24. The department has already gone ahead with some of its plans but it has been impossible to carry out any regular program in the absence of a director.

The many good times planned for members of the Girls' club of the department will begin as soon as Miss Johnson is able to organize the work. The club is still open to new members.

Any girls of this city, between the ages of 12 and 18, may become members by registering with Mrs. F. L. Colvin, 719 Lawrence street, and paying the year's dues of fifty cents. It is the desire of those in charge that every girl in the city join and provision will be made for those girls who cannot afford to pay the dues.

Appealed to Novelists

Fully a score of novels have been written about the case of Lesurques, who was wrongfully executed in France for the robbery of the Lyons mail and the murder of the courier. The real criminal was one named Duboscq, to whom Lesurques bore a striking resemblance. The crime also formed the subject of several stage dramas; in one of them Sir Henry Irving scored a success in the dual part of Lesurques-Duboscq.

Egg-Eating Snakes.

A queer African species of snake, which lives on eggs, has a toothlike spike projecting downward from its backbone just behind the head, which is tipped with enamel. When it swallows an egg the latter passes down the gullet until it encounters the spike, which breaks the shell. Thus no part of the fluid contents is lost, as would be the case if the snake were obliged to bite the egg with its mouth-fangs.

NEWS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY AND WISCONSIN

MENTORS IN STURGEON BAY WANT MORE MONEY

LARGEST OF LAKE CITIES IS PAYING LOWEST SALARIES TO ITS SCHOOL TEACHERS

Kewaunee, Wis.—Salary increases of 25 to 30 per cent, granted to teachers of the upper lake shore cities, Sturgeon Bay, Algoma and Kewaunee, bring the minimum salary for city grade school teachers in the two counties, Door and Kewaunee, to $100 per month.

Sturgeon Bay, largest of the three cities, pays the lowest salaries; Kewaunee, the smallest, (1919 census) pays the best salaries.

Hire "Home" Teachers

Sturgeon Bay teachers are largely "home" teachers, and voice the claim that they are "exploited" by the school board because of the fact; they complain over an alleged "cost of living" basis for salaries; the Kewaunee

Minimum to be $1,100. The minimum salary for grade school teachers in Kewaunee will be $1,100, the maximum $1,500 and the average approximately $1,150. High school teachers will receive $1,250 to $1,650, with the average approximately $1,400. The new salaries amount almost exactly to a blanket increase of $300 per year to all teachers in the Kewaunee schools. Salary increases of about 30 per cent for next year have placed Algoma grade teachers' salaries above the $1,000 minimum, with the average approximately $1,100. The high school minimum is $1,200 and the average approximately $1,350.

Must Sleep or Die. One-half our days we pass in the shadow of the earth and the brother of Death extracteth a third part of our lives.

Why should we give so many hours to sleep? For the purpose, we suppose, of giving the body rest. But during the sleep no physical or mental function is entirely at rest. We do not know why we must sleep, we only know we must sleep or die.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff. There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Must Sleep or Die. One-half our days we pass in the shadow of the earth and the brother of Death extracteth a third part of our lives.

Why should we give so many hours to sleep? For the purpose, we suppose, of giving the body rest. But during the sleep no physical or mental function is entirely at rest. We do not know why we must sleep, we only know we must sleep or die.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff. There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

The people of northern Europe used to say that the ring dove is partly domesticated bird well known to them) perched near the cross when Jesus was dying, and waited on its sorrow, to alleviate the sufferings of Him who was crucified. A dove with six wings is one of the types of the Church of Christ.

LOSE NO TIME IN UNLOADING CARS

RAILROAD OFFICIALS REQUIRE PROMPT UNLOADING TO SATISFY ACUTE DEMAND FOR CARS

With gondola cars rushed east to the coal mines and box cars west to the wheat fields, the interstate commerce commission is not permitting loss of any time in loading or unloading cars. Sunday a local manufacturing plant was required to unload several cars in order to comply with the present requirements.

Cars are being sent to the coal mines to move coal to the eastern lake ports from which it is transported to Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota points by boat. So far this season there has been very little coal unloaded at any of the Wisconsin docks.

The demand for cars for the western wheat fields is due to the fact that many elevators are still filled with last year's wheat crop. The scarcity of freight cars was so acute that it was impossible to get wheat to lake ports until the interstate commerce commission took charge of matters.

Pulpwood and soft coal are still ar-iving in Appleton in considerable quantities. The manufacturing plants are all in full operation and there is no sign of the "slump" that has been generally predicted for some time.

MARATHON COUNTY CTR HORSE RACES FROM FAIR

Wausau, Wis. — The Marathon County Agricultural society will hold its annual fair the last week in August.

At a recent meeting of the county board, the agricultural society offered to turn the fair grounds over to the county, provided the county would erect a new grandstand and a stock pavilion. Two citizens offered to give $30,000 for improvements and buildings, but the offer was rejected.

The directors then announced that the fair for this year was abandoned, because of the dangerous condition of the grandstand and lack of proper housing for stock. There was an immediate protest and the board reconsidered. However, there will be no horse racing, and the fair will be devoted entirely to agriculture and stock raising.

The grandstand will be torn down and the material used to repair the other buildings.

Lotteries originated in ancient Rome and gradually extended throughout Italy.

MEMBERS OF UPPER HOUSE WANTED TO OVER-RIDE VETO

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE TO ACT ON PHILIP VETO OF SEVERSON BILL URGED

Madison.—A special session of the Wisconsin legislature ended without taking any action upon Governor Philip's veto to the Severson sursalt bill or on his veto to the Pullen bill which sought to increase the amount of aid to county training schools from $3,000 a year to $6,000 a year. All other bills passed by the legislature were signed by the governor.

It was only after an effort that the senate was able to adjourn. Senator George Steudemayer of Portage wanted to have the entire legislature recalled to pass upon the veto of the governor. It was finally arranged that the senate should take no action on the governor's veto and that there should be a final adjournment without any action. For a time it looked as though the legislature would be brought back, but when it was explained that the regular session might take up the financial problem of university and normal schools, Steudemayer finally withdrew his objections.

Two bills were passed at this session authorizing increases in salaries and other operating expenses at university and normal schools. There is probably sufficient funds in the treasury to take care of this situation up to Jan. 1 and for that reason the legislature adjourned without taking action on the governor's veto to the Severson bill which sought to raise this money by an income tax. The issues presented in the Severson bill will, however, become a campaign issue in many of the legislative districts in the state and may play some part in the gubernatorial campaign. To support these higher educational institutions Governor Philip had asked a mill tax on the general property of the state. The Severson bill provided for the raising of this money by a surtax on incomes and the bill in this form went through both houses of the legislature. It is doubtful if the senate could have passed the Severson bill over the veto of the governor had it returned. When the measure was under discussion, thirteen senators voted in favor of the governor's plan and fourteen voted in favor of the Severson plan. The vote in the assembly was much larger in proportion in favor of the Severson plan.

The striking accomplishment of the special session has been the creation of a state hospital at Madison for the care of crippled and deformed humanity and poor people from all sections of the state. Plans for the starting of this institution will be made at once. It now seems probable that no further extra session of the legislature will be necessary, because the general session of the legislature is to be convened here next January.

NEENAH WILL HAVE MOTOR BUS LINES

Neenah.—Busses will supplant street cars in giving the public of Neenah local transportation service. The Civic association has made arrangements with the motor bus line which operates between here and Appleton to make hourly trips between the downtown district and Riverside park. The line abandoned over a year ago by the Wisconsin Electric company. If the local bus service is profitable, further extension of the system may take place.

GRIFFMEN BUNCH HITS AND TRIM BROWNS, 5-3

ST. LOUIS.—Washington hit Sothoron in the pinches on Tuesday and aided by the locals' ragged fielding defeated St. Louis, 5 to 3. Home runs by Williams and Siler accounted for two of St. Louis' tallies. Washington went into the lead in the seventh when Johnson drove the ball into the right field bleachers for a home run. Score: Washington .. 5 0 0 1 0 1 0 3 0-5 St. Louis .. 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 1-3

Where the Fault Lay. As the Irish police recruit strolled along on his first turn of night duty, loud yells of "Fire" rent the air. He bolted quickly to the spot, and found a house well alight, with a man half hanging out of an upstairs window. "Help! Help!" he yelled. "If I jump, will you catch me?" "Sure, an' Oi will!" replied the policeman readily.

So the man jumped, only to crash to the ground and lie there stunned. When, a few minutes later, he recovered consciousness, he looked up at the constable reproachfully, and murmured feebly:

"I thought you said you could catch me?" "Begorra!" replied the Irishman. "Oi was only waiting for yez to bounce, an' Oi'd have had yez!"—London Answers.

FIFTH INNING RALLY DEFEATS THE BREWERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Five hits, one of them a home run, enabled the Indians to score five runs in the fourth inning here Tuesday afternoon and defeated Jack Egan's climbing stars 5 to 4. Zwillinger's homer with two on base brought in three of the runs which humbled the Milwaukee outfit.

Jake Northrop's one bad inning caused the spill and with only this one exception, he pitched a perfect game. Only eight hits were allowed the locals and five of them came in the hit and run inning.

Rogge on the mound for the Indians also worked in great shape and although in danger at several stages of the game, managed to slip through and win. He was also touched for eight hits, which were bunched in the second and fourth innings, when the Brewers marked up their four runs.

YANKS STAGE COMEBACK AND DEFEAT TIGERS, 13-6

DETROIT.—After gaining a comfortable early lead, Detroit was defeated, 13 to 6, in the opening game of the series on Tuesday, when New York rallied in the final innings. Four errors by Tiger fielders, combined with pitching by Boland and Dauss, which the visitors had little trouble in solving, were responsible for the late rally, which gave New York the game. Score: New York .. 0 3 0 0 0 6 0 4-13 Detroit .. 0 2 2 0 0 0 0 0-6

GIANTS ON LONG END OF 54 COUNT WITH REDS

NEW YORK.—The New York Nationals celebrated their return to the Polo grounds on Tuesday by defeating Cincinnati, 3 to 4. After the visitors had tied the score in the first half of the eighth New York put over the winning run on Burns' double. Duncan's poor throw in and Rath's fumble of Bancroft's liner. Score: Cincinnati .. 1 0 0 0 1 0 2 0-4 New York .. 2 0 0 2 0 0 0 1-5

DODGERS LOSE FIRST HOME GAME TO CARDS

BROOKLYN.—St. Louis defeated Brooklyn 3 to 2. In the first game of the series on Tuesday. The Dodgers bunched three hits for two runs in the second inning but were held in check by Haines in the other eight. Cadore was hit freely. Smith made four hits in the first four times at bat and then flied to Mitchell. Score: Philadelphia .. 2 0 0 0 2 0 1 0-5 Brooklyn .. 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0-2

BOSTON WINS FIRST OF SERIES FROM WHITE SOX

CHICAGO.—Jones held Chicago to four hits on Tuesday and Boston won the first game of the series 4 to 1. Wilkinson pitched the full route for the locals and was hit hard throughout, but steadily holding down Boston's score. The visitors inclined the game in the eighth by scoring two runs on singles by McBride and Foster and a triple by Scott. The score: Boston .. 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 2-4 Chicago .. 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0-1

PAULETTE'S HOME RUN WINS GAME FOR PHILS

PHILADELPHIA.—Paulette's home run drive over the right field wall with two on bases in the eighth inning won Tuesday's game for Philadelphia, 5 to 1. Fletcher, for ten years with New York, played his first game as shortstop and captain with Philadelphia. He pitched sensationally and secured a double and single off Alexander. Score: Philadelphia .. 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 5-1 Chicago .. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1

Little Hope of Relief For Victims of Catarrh

Unless Old-Time, Obsolete Treatment Is Discarded.

Doubtless during the mild summer months you have enjoyed some relief from the disease, because there is always less inflammation of the membranes during the summer, but do not make the mistake of thinking that your Catarrh is gone, for the very first raw, damp, wintry day, the delicate linings of the membranes will begin to again become irritated and sore, the air passages will begin to clog up, and soon you will find that your old enemy is still with you, with a fiendish intention of making the winter as full of discomfort as ever.

What are you going to do about it? If you have had the disease for any length of time, the chances are that you have used enough local remedies to convince you that there is no cure for you in this method of treatment. Are you going to drag through another winter hawking and spitting and spraying constantly in an effort to unclog the stopped up air passages so that you can get your breath for awhile, knowing that these accumulations will immediately reappear—or are you going to discard this makeshift treatment, and use a little intelligence in an effort to get rid of this disease that is such an annoyance and a constant handicap? You must accept the teachings of science, which shows that to get rid of any disease, you must treat it at its source, you must direct your efforts toward removing its cause, instead of being satisfied with slight temporary relief from its symptoms. You must root out from your blood the millions of tiny germs which cause Catarrh, so that there can be no more inflammation of the nose and throat, and choked up nasal passages that make breathing difficult and painful.

S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy, has given splendid results in the treatment of Catarrh, and you will be delighted with its effect on your case. It so purifies and cleanses the blood, that disease germs are eradicated, hence when the germs of your Catarrh are eliminated from the blood, you are on the right road to a permanent ridance from the disease. Go to your drug store, and get a bottle of S.S.S. to day and begin the real rational treatment that will give real results.

If you will write our medical department, we will take pleasure in giving instructions regarding the treatment of your own particular case. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 15 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

Harris Governor Pulley

The illustration in this advertisement shows a standard Harris Governor Pulley. This pulley is designed to prolong the life of a cream separator or other slow driven machinery. By means of this pulley any desired speed can be attained by the driven machine regardless of the speed of the engine. For instance, if it is desired to run a cream separator or a pump jack at the rate of 50 revolutions per minute, it can be done even if the engine is running at a rate of 700 revolutions per minute.

Harris Governor Pulleys are manufactured in five sizes which include Line Shaft Sets.

Circulars and prices will be sent upon application.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN BANKS ARE TIED UP IN TAX LITIGATION

CASE INSTIGATED BY PRIVATE BANKING INTERESTS MAY NOT BE DECIDED UNTIL FALL

(By Harry B. Hunt)

Washington—Farmers in need of cash to finance purchase of land, live stock, implements or seed, or other, wise to extend their operations this spring, will not be able to negotiate low-interest, long-term loans through Uncle Sam's Farm Loan Bank System.

They will have to deal, instead, with the private farm mortgage banker, against whose arbitrary terms and high interest rates the federal farm loan system was designed to protect them.

The reason is that these private banking interests, naturally hostile to government loans, have the whole federal farm loan system tied up in a suit contesting the constitutionality of the tax-free provision on farm loan bonds.

The case is now before the Supreme Court for decision. It was argued in January, but late in April the court asked that it be re-argued. The court will adjourn for its summer recess on June 7, and as the docket up to that date is crowded with cases previously assigned, there will be no chance for reargument of this case until after it reconvenes next September.

The result is there can be no Farm Loan bonds issued in the meantime, and without the sale of bonds there is no money provided from which to make loans except such as may be forthcoming from private interests favorable to the system.

Applications for some $50,000,000 in farm loans are now pending. Perhaps one-third of these can be taken care of through the co-operation of friendly interests. The remainder will have to wait.

Higher Food Prices

The result will be higher interest payments and less advantageous terms for those farmers who turn to private sources for their loans, and a lessening of production and consequent higher prices for foodstuffs to the extent that farmers who would extend their operations with the assistance of low-rate government loans decline to do so on high interest, short-term money from private sources.

The real reason for the request for reargument of the suit before the Supreme court, it is understood, was that the court was deadlocked on its decision on the facts presented.

Justice Brandeis, a friend of the farm loan idea, invested in bonds of the system when it was getting under way. This ownership of bonds, the court agreed, disqualified Brandeis from joining in the decision as to whether or not there is tax free, and left decision to the remaining eight members of the court. They are said to have divided evenly, 4 to 4.

Loan Bill Pending

One proposed solution, to enable the banks to operate pending the decision of the court, is for Congress to authorize an advance of money sufficient to cover loans until the decision is rendered. Congressmen Ferris and Morgan of Oklahoma, and Platt of New York, already have introduced bills providing a treasury loan of $100,000,000, and an effort will be made to rush these through the banking and currency committee.

The one definite thing in the whole situation is that the farmer in need of money, is left "up in the air" until either Congress or the Supreme court acts.

Just what the farm loan system means to the American farmer is indicated by the statistics covering loans made in the three years of its operation.

From a standing start in March, 1917, the system has advanced more than $385,000,000 to farmers at 5 and 5½ per cent interest, repayable on an amortization basis at 1 per cent annually for 32½ years.

Private mortgage bankers, accustomed to receiving from 6 to 10 per cent for their farm loans, naturally have suffered. And they intend to make hay while the sun shines this spring by charging all the traffic will bear during the period the federal system is tied up—and to keep it tied up as long as possible.

Eillions of Tons of New Fuel

For the production of cheap electric power, briquettes and certain by-products the government of Victoria is planning to develop immense deposits of brown coal, estimated to exceed 20,000,000,000 tons.

War Graves Maps Popular

The war graves map is now a popular publication in Europe. In its larger form it shows 2,000 military cemeteries, and in the more detailed editions it shows the numbered graves.

Washington—President Wilson is one of the most devoted movie fans in America.

It's a safe bet there's not a boy or girl, or another grown-up, anywhere, who is more familiar with the screen stars than the president. He has "done the movies" every day this year, except Sundays.

East Room Theater

The president doesn't leave the White House to go to the movies. He has converted the beautiful east room into a movie theater.

When Douglas Fairbanks gave Mr. Wilson a projecting machine last Christmas, he little dreamed of the pleasure it would afford the sick man in the White House.

Dr. Cary Grayson, the president's physician, immediately prescribed daily movies during the president's convalescence.

Incidentally, the best indication the millions of people who have been speculating about the president's condition can have as to his recovery, lies in the fact that he has sat through and thoroughly enjoyed a moving picture every day, except Sundays, since Jan. 1.

Those who put on the exhibitions marvel at the president's unflagging interest. Many well persons would become tired and lose interest, but not the president. He looks forward eagerly every day to his movie, generally at 11 a. m. The only day he misses is on Sunday, and that is for religious reasons.

Charles Plunkett, machine operator at a local theater, who volunteered Jan. 1 to grind out as many pictures as the president wanted to see, has orders to keep coming till the distinguished fan says "enough."

Never Loses Interest

The president is very fond of comedies—likes them better than melodramas and pictures known as "big productions." He laughs, but seldom comments on any picture.

He does also on southern plays, detective stories and now and then he is particularly pleased with the picturization of some book or poem that lives in literature. He also derives much pleasure from "thrillers."

There is only one kind of movie that President Wilson doesn't like—a war picture.

They're Friends

Plunkett, the operator, and the president have become personal friends. The other day when Plunkett started a picture without throwing the title on the screen, the president turned and called

"Hey, Plunkett, what's the name of this picture?" The reel was started over.

The president's disposition during his illness is indicated by the fact that everyone who has had anything to do with exhibiting the pictures have become devoted to him, and all the work is gratis. In fact, the executive has expressed so much pleasure and appreciation that there is some jealousy among the film managers as to who shall furnish the pictures. Not one of them has sought to use the president's opinions of the productions as advertising.

"We live on advertising," said one, "but the president has requested that we not use any comment he might make."

The president sees pictures before the other fans, too. There are a dozen releases for the future that the president has already seen.

The president was right in the middle of a thriller the other day when he heard a band. He knew it was the circus parade, so he had Plunkett stop long enough to see the elephants and camels and monkeys. Wilson watched the parade half an hour then returned to the thriller.

It's a Secret

Who is the president's favorite star?

That's what the stars would like to know.

News pictures are shown to keep the president informed. One unusual picture from which the president got a real tonic recently was an exhibition between two famous wrestlers.

Comes to your table fresh and sweet—Ev-Re-Day Margarine.

To Get Rid of Flies

A quick method to drive flies out of the house is to put 20 drops of carbolic acid on a hot stove lid or hot shovel. Make the room semi-dark and leave only one window or door open. The flies will hurry away. A tablespoonful of formaldehyde, in a pint of water, left standing in a room, also drives them out.

There is only one kind of movie that President Wilson doesn't like—a war picture.

They're Friends

Plunkett, the operator, and the president have become personal friends. The other day when Plunkett started a picture without throwing the title on the screen, the president turned and called

"Hey, Plunkett, what's the name of this picture?" The reel was started over.

The president's disposition during his illness is indicated by the fact that everyone who has had anything to do with exhibiting the pictures have become devoted to him, and all the work is gratis. In fact, the executive has expressed so much pleasure and appreciation that there is some jealousy among the film managers as to who shall furnish the pictures. Not one of them has sought to use the president's opinions of the productions as advertising.

"We live on advertising," said one, "but the president has requested that we not use any comment he might make."

The president sees pictures before the other fans, too. There are a dozen releases for the future that the president has already seen.

The president was right in the middle of a thriller the other day when he heard a band. He knew it was the circus parade, so he had Plunkett stop long enough to see the elephants and camels and monkeys. Wilson watched the parade half an hour then returned to the thriller.

It's a Secret

Who is the president's favorite star?

That's what the stars would like to know.

News pictures are shown to keep the president informed. One unusual picture from which the president got a real tonic recently was an exhibition between two famous wrestlers.

Comes to your table fresh and sweet—Ev-Re-Day Margarine.

To Get Rid of Flies

A quick method to drive flies out of the house is to put 20 drops of carbolic acid on a hot stove lid or hot shovel. Make the room semi-dark and leave only one window or door open. The flies will hurry away. A tablespoonful of formaldehyde, in a pint of water, left standing in a room, also drives them out.

Washington—President Wilson is one of the most devoted movie fans in America.

It's a safe bet there's not a boy or girl, or another grown-up, anywhere, who is more familiar with the screen stars than the president. He has "done the movies" every day this year, except Sundays.

East Room Theater

The president doesn't leave the White House to go to the movies. He has converted the beautiful east room into a movie theater.

When Douglas Fairbanks gave Mr. Wilson a projecting machine last Christmas, he little dreamed of the pleasure it would afford the sick man in the White House.

Dr. Cary Grayson, the president's physician, immediately prescribed daily movies during the president's convalescence.

Incidentally, the best indication the millions of people who have been speculating about the president's condition can have as to his recovery, lies in the fact that he has sat through and thoroughly enjoyed a moving picture every day, except Sundays, since Jan. 1.

Those who put on the exhibitions marvel at the president's unflagging interest. Many well persons would become tired and lose interest, but not the president. He looks forward eagerly every day to his movie, generally at 11 a. m. The only day he misses is on Sunday, and that is for religious reasons.

Charles Plunkett, machine operator at a local theater, who volunteered Jan. 1 to grind out as many pictures as the president wanted to see, has orders to keep coming till the distinguished fan says "enough."

Never Loses Interest

The president is very fond of comedies—likes them better than melodramas and pictures known as "big productions." He laughs, but seldom comments on any picture.

He does also on southern plays, detective stories and now and then he is particularly pleased with the picturization of some book or poem that lives in literature. He also derives much pleasure from "thrillers."

DAILY MOVIE SHOW AT THE WHITE HOUSE IS WILSON'S TONIC

CONVALESCING PRESIDENT SEES LATEST FILMS EVERY DAY IN "EAST ROOM" THEATER

WANAMAKER PRICE CUTTING IDEA IS GAINING HEADWAY

MERCHANTS HAVE GOTTEN OVER SORENESS AND ARE CO-OPERATING—PRO-DUCERS LIKE IDEA

(By John Wanamaker) (Special to Post-Crescent)

Philadelphia—It is only fair to say to the people that the aurora borealis of lower prices has not yet appeared, but there are signs in the brightening skies in perhaps a hundred or more places.

A very interesting thing is that some of the stores that at first scorned the idea, and in the beginning threw broken china and empty tin cans in the way of this government, have now got over their sourness and have opened up all of their preserve closets.

Northern, eastern, western and southern papers are full
